WILL BE FRAMED BY
LEAGUE WEDNESDAY*Important Changes in Municipal Government are Proposed.*DEMOCRATS GO ON WAR PATH*Sold Out by Filmmen, They Declare, When House Clerkships are Decided; Will Cause This Afternoon to Plan Fight; Hinges at Harrisburg

Special to The Courier.
HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—The League of Third Class Cities which meets here Wednesday will take up the proposed legislation for third class cities finally before the measures are presented to the Legislature. The chief bill will be an act providing for a single Council for cities of the third class. The proposed bill requires the Council to consist of five members and an additional member for each 10,000 population, all of whom are to be elected at large on one-party tickets. The referendum is to be allowed on all ordinances granting franchises on the petition of 15 per cent. of the voters. The bill has been framed by James A. Gurnell, city solicitor of New Castle.

Other bills involving important changes in municipal affairs have been framed. They provide for the return to municipalities by the State of a portion of the tax on real estate of public service corporations in the municipality; for the repeal of the law requiring for the payment of municipalities of a tax of four mills on municipal bonds; and for the payment of a part of the cost of installation of sewage disposal plants in municipalities by the State. The last act was passed four years ago, but was vetoed at the time by Governor Shertzer.

Other acts require telephone and telegraph companies to put their wires under ground; and provide for a direct inheritance tax and the return of a portion of the tax to the municipality where the deceased lived.

An act enjoining the City Treasurer to collect all city, county, school, poor and local taxes will probably be passed. Another act provides for the position of City Auditor to be filled by a public officer who shall be appointed by the Governor and shall have supervision of the municipalities of the State.

An act enlarging the police power of cities and boroughs so that ordinances may be passed in any matter relative to the general welfare of the community has been drafted by City Solicitor Gurnell and will probably be introduced also a proposed act providing for the abolition of waste earnings and for the equal division of the payment of the cost of such changes among the city, State and railroad companies.

The four Assemblymen from Fayette county will go into the Democratic joint caucus this afternoon to vote for a Democrat for Resident Clerk and Chief Clerk of the House and will demand that the Democrats agree on a man and stand for him. The action of Benson and Matt, two Democratic members of the House Committee on Committees, in voting for Berkeley Boyd for Chief Clerk and for William Young for Resident Clerk, is being denounced every minute by the Democrats. They claim that the two committeemen sold out to Filmmen for a few bones for the Democratic pickings.

It is believed that the Democratic caucus will reject the Democratic minor officers, that has been offered them for supporting the Filmmen candidates for the two jobs in the House and will nominate candidates for Chief Clerk and Resident Clerk.

The Democrats see that they have been clearly taken over in the deal with the Filmmen. Nearly every Democrat in Harrisburg this morning denounced Benson and Matt, who at this time appear to be the most unpopular members of the party.

Ernest F. Sterling and E. C. Hughes, the Fayette county Democratic leaders, are on the job here marshaling their four members. Hughes will attend the Democratic conference tomorrow which will consider the proposed legislation. The Fayette county members declared this morning that if the name of a Democrat was not put before the House for Chief Clerk and Resident Clerk they would refuse to vote at all. They will not vote for the Filmmen and they say that they will not vote for Thomas Garvin and William S. Leib, the defeated candidates of the Republican organization. However, they prefer the Filmmen men to those of Bill Filmmen.

James I. Rinkens of Carbon is favored by the Democrats for Chief Clerk and Arthur McKean of Beaver for Resident Clerk. Developments this morning brought to light the fact that Governor Tener is strongly opposed to the report of the House Committee on Committees. He was anxious for a short session and the new rule would allow a bill negotiated to be brought into the House by a vote of six members, he believes, will bring up many small and unnecessary bills.

Governor Tener is opposed to turning down Thomas Gurnell as Chief Clerk of the House and William Leib as Resident Clerk. It is possible the Governor may take a hand in tonight's proceedings.

Held Up But Gave.
While waiting for a street car at Vanderbilt Saturday night, Frank Sweeney and E. A. Mann were held up by two negroes. Before the holdups were able to do any damage, however, the car arrived and Sweeney and Mann boarded it.

FIREMEN GET BALLOTS FOR STRIKE VOTE; WANT RAISE*Connellsville Railroad Men Will Meet Tomorrow to Discuss Failure of Conference.

Strike ballots are being distributed today among the engineers, firemen and hostlers of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad as a result of the failure to reach an agreement between the managers of the railroad east of the Potomac and north of the Potomac and the representatives of the men.

Tomorrow afternoon the members of Youngbloods lodge No. 302, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers will meet for the purpose of discussing the question. It is said that between 350 and 400 men on the Connellsville division are affected.

The firemen insist that the railroad managers refused to arbitrate under the Erdman act and that, having their proposals rejected, the firemen and other employees affected had no other course than to enter a strike vote.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is not affected by the controversy, having been recently granted increased pay under the decision of an arbitration commission. The firemen say the railroad would not consent to having their dispute arbitrated.

$1,200,000 MINE DEALCarnegie Coal Company Buys Coal Lands in Fayette County.

A coal deal involving more than $1,200,000, which will mean practically a new industry for Fayette county, has been closed by the purchase by the Carnegie Coal Company of the Cherokee coal plant, owned by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. The deal includes more than 1,200 acres of coal land, the entire plant and other surface property. The purchase price was slightly more than $1,000 an acre.

The coal is the fine quality, such as found only in the Pittsburgh district, and it was purchased by the Carnegie Company for its Northwest trade. The company owns modern lake docks at Superior and Duluth, and operates three large mines in the Pittsburgh district, all of which are situated on the Cherokee property.

One modern open-pit mine being worked by the glass company, from which it mined only a little more than enough to supply its works. The new owning company will increase the output as much as possible as a big supply of coal will be necessary to supply the demand. This will mean the employment of many more men at the plant.

CONTRACTS AWARDEDSchool Board Prepares for New Classes at Library.

Contracts to fit up the basement of the Carnegie Library for the manual training and domestic science departments of the borough schools were awarded Saturday afternoon by Secretary Hawk.

The successful bidders were: Plumbing and Contracting—W. L. Whippley, Mr. Whippley will erect the necessary partitions, and do whatever other work may be required. The work will require the expenditure of a small amount of money, as both contracts will approximate only $75. The work will be started immediately.

ALLEGED DESERTER HELDSerious Charge is Laid Against William Cullison.

The plaintiff in the board bill charge is Thomas W. Buxton, proprietor of a restaurant who was held by Cullison Saturday afternoon by Constable William Stoner, and is being held in the county prison until such time as the result of inquiries being made by the authorities are known.

Until recently the youth had been employed as a laborer by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

STRIKERS RIOTPickets Approach Strikebreakers and Trouble Follows.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Nearly 1,000 persons participated in a riot today in front of a factory on Spring street. The trouble started when pickets posted in front of the building tried to stop strikebreakers who were endeavoring to enter the building.

Fifty strikebreakers working in the factory rushed out to fight their friends, and a general free-for-all fight took place. Police reserves were rushed to the scene and in the battle that followed scores were injured. Eight of the participants were admitted to hospital, and a dozen arrests were made.

DISPUTE OVER CONSTABLE
IS TAKEN UP BY THE COURT*Suit of J. T. Crossland Against Rice Shown Placed on Trial Today; Other Court News.

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Jan. 20.—The dispute over the position of Constable of the Fourth Ward, Connellsville, was taken up in court today when the suit of Joseph T. Crossland against Rice Shaw was called on for trial. Shaw, representing Crossland, who disputes Shaw's right to the place, called no witnesses and rested after citing the situation; that constables were held over from town to town, and taking up the third class city; that J. W. Howard was elected and failed to qualify, Shaw being appointed to fill his place. Mr. Matthews pointed out that this was merely to fill a supposed vacancy. The defense contended that Crossland lost his right to the place by moving from the Fourth ward to a point beyond town, and taking up his residence in the Third Ward after returning to Connellsville. Mrs. N. T. Gilmore was the first witness called by the defense, which will have its claim principally on the residence contention.

The only other case called for trial this morning was that of the Tygart Valley Brewing Company against Joe Seret. The claim is $146.25 for beer, a writ of foreign attachment having been issued.

The jury in the suit of Stephen Gadjos against Anthony P. Senko, returned a verdict for $5,000 in favor of the plaintiff on Saturday. Gadjos sued for $10,000, charging that the effects of his wife had been alienated.

Charles Farrah and wife of Tveron sued the West Penn for $10,000 damages for the death of their only son, a young daughter, who was killed by a street car. The jury returned a verdict of $157 against the company.

The will of Philip Luce of Perryopolis was admitted to probate on Saturday. The estate disposed of is valued at $301,600. The wife is willed the home farm and 28 shares of stock in the Perryopolis National Bank. David P. Luce, a son, is given the Ellett Porter farm on which he now resides; William P. Luce, another son, is given the Samuel Haggerty farm on which he now resides. Harry M. Luce, a son, will get the home farm upon the death of his mother, Samuel H. Luce given $5,000 and Mrs. Ada A. Luce, a daughter, $5,000, amounts which have already been paid.

PARCEL POST DISCUSSEDFayette County Farmers Fear Interest Topic Debated.

"Parcel post" was discussed at length at the regular meeting of the Union Farmers' Club of Fayette county held Saturday at the home of W. H. Bryson near Ligonizing No. 2. About 40 members of the club were present and expressed their views on the subject. The farmers believe that the parcel post will be of great benefit to them.

David Junk spoke on "What are the Prospects of the Parcel Post?" "What kind of articles can be sent?" was discussed by J. H. Junk. "Of what use will it be to farmers?" was discussed by J. H. Junk.

The subject was one of unusual interest to the farmers and the meeting was pronounced the best held for some time. Resolutions were given by W. H. Swearingen and Mrs. Bertha Junk. At noon dinner was served. Among the guests were Mrs. Bertha Junk and son Clarence, and Mrs. Hamilton and daughter.

"Grandfather's Farm in the Seventies" will be discussed at the next meeting to be held Saturday, February 25, at the home of C. S. Fess in Diabole township. The farms of 10 years ago will be compared with the farms of today.

DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID BY MISTAKE;
SHE WILL RECOVER*Woman is at Hospital but Condition is Not Serious.*DISCOVERED BY HER HUSBAND*Mrs. Witt Got Wrong Bottle, It is Said, and Drank Quantity of the Burning Fluid Before Learning Her Mistake; Neighbors Summoned.

Mistaking a bottle of carbolic acid for medicine she was in the habit of taking, Mrs. J. C. Witt, of 412 Stephen street swallowed a quantity of the poison Saturday afternoon, and today is rapidly recovering at the Cottage State hospital.

The accident happened while Mrs. Witt was preparing supper for her husband. The latter is an engineer on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and was ordered to report for work at 4:30 that afternoon.

Leaving his wife in the kitchen last night cooking the meal, Mr. Witt went down to the basement to change his clothes. He had only been there a short time when he heard the sound of a falling body.

Rushing up stairs, the husband discovered Mrs. Witt lying on the kitchen floor. On a nearby table was a partially filled bottle of poison, and the odor of carbolic acid was in the air. Mrs. Witt was lying on her back, her face pale and her eyes closed.

Made frantic by the fear that his wife was dying, the agonized man immediately telephoned to the Cottage State hospital for an ambulance. In the meantime neighbors, summoned by the cries of the Witt children, rushed in. Mrs. Allen Harmon and Mrs. Sol Rosenfeld did what they could for the temporary relief of the suffering woman. When the ambulance arrived an antidote was administered. At the hospital effective measures were taken to save the woman's life, and today her chances for recovery are considered good. The acid made painful burns about the woman's mouth.

Mrs. Witt is 29 years of age and is the mother of three children, Henry, aged 10, Elsie, aged 9, and Elmer, aged 8.

She has been experiencing ill health since the holidays and was in a highly nervous condition when the accident happened.

The coal lies half a mile west of Masontown, between the borough and the river. It adjoins the holdings of the Connellsville Coal & Coke Company. The Bessemer company will, it is said, reach the coal through its present operations in that vicinity. The surface is owned by the Masontown Improvement Company.

TELEPHONE FRIGHTENS MEN
RANSACKING A RESIDENCE*When Bell Tinkles to Call Railroadmen, Burglars Bent a Hasty Retreat.

Interrupted by the ringing of a telephone bell while engaged ransacking the home of Mr. Abbott at South Connellsville at an early hour Sunday morning, two burglars quickly made their escape, taking $21.50 in cash and a new pair of brown shoes. The first floor of the Abbott home was practically turned up side down. In their search for money, the thieves ransacked through every drawer and possible hiding place.

Mr. Abbott is employed as a railroadman, and shortly after 1 o'clock he was awakened by the ringing of his telephone bell. Descending to the first floor to answer the telephone, he discovered traces of the intruders.

The dining and sitting rooms had been thoroughly ransacked, and the rear door was standing open. Upon the diningroom table were the remnants of a meal, which the men had evidently been eating when frightened away.

A thorough search of the premises failed to reveal the loss of anything more than the shoes and the money. Burglars entered the home of Mrs. S. A. Martin on East Main street Saturday night and took $25 belonging to Ray Goodwin.

SPRING WEATHERCoke Region Dodges Saturday Storm and Air is Balm.

The Weatherman and Father Time apparently got their workings mixed this morning, when Connellsville and the entire coke region were served served March weather instead of the usual January brand. The mercury climbed almost to temperate after a night shower, a Sunday that had a maximum temperature of 60 degrees and a Saturday night that for a time threatened to bring snow. However, a cold wave from the west is scheduled to reach here tomorrow.

A veritable tornado that struck Pittsburgh and did much damage and also swept over the Northern part of West Virginia yesterday, the storm-swept sections the wind attained a velocity of 75 miles an hour for a few minutes, according to reports, and brought with it a driving rain and sleet. Snow was anticipated, but the cold wind turned warm and Sunday came with a springlike atmosphere.

Sunday's minimum temperature was only 34 and the mean 47. So warm was the sun that all country roads became long beds of mud.

This morning brought all the variables of a March morning. Sunshine was greeted with warm winds and only a slightly cloudy sky. Within a few hours a short down-pour brought on a threatening rain, but another change compelled the laying aside of overcoats and wraps. Top coats invariably marked the out-of-town men on business here, and the weather was a surprise to the residents who had extra protection.

ATTACKED AND ROBBEDFrank Zimmerman is Beaten by Two Negroes.

While on the way to the Davidson plant of the H. C. Frick Coke Company early Sunday morning, Frank Zimmerman, an employee, was attacked and robbed by two negroes. Zimmerman was approached from the rear by the largest of the two men, who demanded his money. Upon replying that he was broke, Zimmerman was struck on the head with a brick, and before he had time to recover he had been struck again with another brick. While in a semi-conscious condition his pockets were rifled, the amount of money secured being $4.50.

After his assailants had departed Zimmerman made his way to the Cottage State hospital, where his wounds were dressed. It required five stitches to close the cuts on his scalp.

The case has been referred to the police. According to the victim's description, one of the negroes was a short, heavy set man. He was clean shaven, wore black eyes and a checkered cap. His companion was taller and in a corduroy suit and his complexion was light mulatto.

STRUCK BY TRAINMrs. Evans, Former Resident Here, Run Down at Uniontown.

Mrs. Annie Evans, a resident of Connellsville for a number of years, while crossing the Baltimore & Ohio tracks at East Main street in Uniontown Saturday night was struck by a passenger train and knocked down an embankment, suffering a fracture of the left leg above the knee and a fracture of the left arm at the wrist.

Following the accident Mrs. Evans crawled to the East End bakery some little distance away from the scene of the accident. It is feared she is injured internally. The injured woman was taken to the home of her brother, Thomas Williams.

Mrs. Evans is suffering great pain. Her leg was so badly swollen that the fracture could not be reduced yesterday. She recently went to Uniontown to reside. She is the mother of Charles Evans of Connellsville, and Walter Evans of Fairchance. She is a sister of Miss Elizabeth Williams and an aunt of Mrs. E. N. Stahl of Connellsville. She is 70 years old.

Y. M. C. A. REPORT

Secretary E. T. Baer Shows Work Accomplished in Past Quarter.

The quarterly report of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association for the first quarter, 1912-13, has been prepared by Secretary E. T. Baer. The report calls attention to the religious work being done by the association. Arrangements have been made to conduct a men's meeting once a month, and each meeting will have a special purpose, which will be announced later. A Personal Workers' Club, which meets once a week for the promotion of personal work among laymen, is doing good work.

During the present month a special effort will be made to enroll new members. With this end in view, the report says, application forms have been mailed to supporters of the association, who are requested to forward them to young men who may be interested in the work.

The financial report for the quarter follows: Payments on budget, subscriptions and membership fees, $1,295.75; miscellaneous receipts, $10.10; expenditures for improvement to the building, $40.85; expenditures for new equipment, $34.00. Attention is called to the fact that several rooms in the dormitory are vacant, and a special appeal is made to help secure occupants.

He said that as far as he had inquired into the rumor, he had been informed that two policemen had signed the petition but a third had refused to append a signature. Then the petition had disappeared.

FOR DELICATE CHILDREN
A Mother's Letter to Mothers.

Mrs. E. W. Cooper of Bloomfield, N. J., says: "My child, seven years old, had a bad cold and was weak and quite run down in health. She had been in this condition for about a week, and I was giving her Vinol. It was a wonderful help to the child, breaking up her cold quickly and building up her strength beside. I have also found Vinol a most excellent remedy for colic, and the child's strength during a siege of whooping cough."

Vinol is a wonderful combination of the finest and most delicate medicinal and body building elements of cod liver oil and iron for the blood, therefore it is a perfectly safe medicine for children, because it is not a harsh medicine, everything in it is printed on every package, so mothers may know what they are giving their little ones.

Therefore we ask every mother of a weak, sick or illing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our guarantee. Graham & Company, Drugists, Conneltsville. Vinol is sold in West Side drug stores.

P. S. Our Saxe Salve is truly wonderful for Eczema. We guarantee it. —Advertisement.

Come—Farm Where Success is Sure

WHY waste time and wear out your life working on Eastern farm, when land in the Sacramento Valley, California, will produce many times more net profit to the acre, with less work and worry. In Northern California the soil is richer, sun shines more often and irrigation makes you independent of the rain and drought.

Oranges, alfalfa and all fruits, grains, grasses and vegetables mature four to six weeks earlier in Northern California. Stock and poultry are easier to raise and produce more because the climate is milder, and they can be kept out of doors all the year, where green feed grows in abundance. Markets are near, with cheap railroad, river and trolley transportation. Invest in these wonderful farms; large acreage is unnecessary.

"TWENTY'S PLENTY—FORTY'S A FORTUNE"
Read carefully this table of profits and note the production to the acre; you will then understand why the Kuhn farms in the Sacramento Valley are money makers.

Alfalfa	80 to 100	Lemons	150 to 200
Apples	100 to 150	Loganberries	100 to 150
Apricots	100 to 150	Olives	100 to 150
Bananas	100 to 150	Oranges	200 to 300
Beans	80 to 100	Peaches	200 to 300
Blackberries	100 to 150	Pears	100 to 150
Chickens	100 to 150	Potatoes (Irish)	100 to 150
Corn	100 to 150	Potatoes (Sweet)	100 to 150
English Walnuts	100 to 150	Prunes	100 to 150
Grapes (Elate)	80 to 100	Strawberries	200 to 300
Grapes (Vine)	80 to 100	Tomatoes	100 to 150

Write today and learn of people who are making big money on Kuhn's Sacramento Valley Farms, the profits paying the purchase price. Don't delay if you are interested, write us at once, as every day now sees new settlers moving on this land and the best farms go first.

LIMB OF TREE IS BLOWN STRIKING A SCOTSDALE WOMAN

Mrs. Susan Bentsch Victim of Accident During Violent Storm.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN ROAD

Branch Twenty Feet in Length and
That Many Inches Around Horribly Down From Top of Great Tree, Near the Jacobs Creek Church.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Jan. 20.—In the terrible rain, wind and hail storm that swept over this locality on Saturday afternoon, with a violence exceeding any storm thus far during the winter, Mrs. Susan Bentsch was struck by a huge branch that was torn from the top of a great tree and which fell upon the woman and injured her seriously as she was passing along the road.

The injured woman was found by John Hidenour lying unconscious in the road along Jacobs Creek near the Hidenour stable between Jacobs Creek Methodist Episcopal Church and the Keister bridge. The woman was bleeding from a large cut on her head, and blood was issuing from mouth, nose and ears, while she seemed crushed on one side. Near her lay a branch about 20 feet in length and probably 20 inch in circumference. The limb had been blown out of the top of the tree which stands near the Mrs. Priscilla Hidenour property and being so large and falling such a distance it was a wonder that it did not kill the unfortunate victim instantly.

Mrs. Bentsch lives in the former Daniel Hidenour brick house, across the creek, just above the old Keister mill, and it is said she was on her way to Jacobs Creek Church of which she is the caretaker, to prepare the church for the Sunday services. The victim of the accident was carried to Old Meadow and placed on a West Penn car and removed to the Mount Pleasant hospital, where it was found that her injuries consisted of broken ribs and a severe and dangerous cut on the head.

CALL TO SERVICE.

The Rev. H. S. Finer, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, preached two decidedly evangelistic sermons on Sunday morning and evening to large congregations. In the morning service he told the people that he wanted all members of the church to be out on Wednesday evening to take their place on the Lord's side. This was repeated in the service of the evening, when he told the people that since they are just now winding up the campaign to pay off the church debt, which it is expected will be liquidated on February 23d, it is the intention of the church to enter upon a six weeks' evangelistic campaign. He asked all those who would give all the time they could to the work, in whatever sphere they are called, to arise, and almost the entire congregation arose. The town will be divided into 10 districts and in these prayer meetings will be begun at an early date to precede the regular campaign. The United Brethren and the Presbyterian Church have both been carrying on similar campaigns in their churches for some little time, and at the United Brethren Church there was a tremendous crowd out on Sunday afternoon at the new's meeting, led by Dr. R. J. Barrett.

TO FIREMEN.
The Scottdale firemen headed by Burgess R. F. Ellis and a number of the members of the firemen's association attended the Presbyterian Church in a body on Sunday morning, where the pastor, the Rev. J. E. Hutchinson, preached a special sermon to the firemen. The firemen were in full dress uniform and each of them wore a carnation. They marched up from the borough building and occupied pews reserved for them.

MILLS CLOSED.
Today the Scottdale or No. 1 mill of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company, were closed down, following the law down of a week previous of the Old Meadow mills. The lack of bars of proper weight for working into sheets for which orders are in is given as the cause of the close down. About 900 men are affected by the close down period of the two plants. Resumption will be made just as soon as the supply of bars is adequate to the work on hand. It is said.

NOSSE BLEED.
Charles Carlson, son of Swan Carlson, a stockeaper in Sweden, was the victim of a serious attack of nose bleed on Saturday night, which required the services of a physician to stop. Mr. Carlson came to the office of Dr. N. E. Bliley late that evening suffering from a profuse hemorrhage from the nostrils. The flow of blood was finally stopped, and Mr. Carlson, though he was able to go home. He had arisen from the child on which he was sitting out was so weakened from the loss of blood that he fainted. The physician took the young man in his automobile to his home.

Woman's World

Miss Bessie Youkum
Is a Modern Diana.

MISS BESSIE YOKUM.

Diana, the famous goddess of the chase, in her adventures with bow and arrow never exceeded in prowess and daring the achievements of Miss Bessie Youkum, daughter of D. F. Youkum, the millionaire president of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad.

This young lady is well known not only for her beauty and social grace, but as a sportswoman of no mean ability. While hunting recently in Texas she and her guide were attacked by seven ferocious wild hogs.

Deserted by the guide, who fled panic-stricken, Miss Youkum leaped from her horse, dropped on the ground, aimed a fraction of a moment and fired while the first wild hog was several yards away. Two more of the hogs were killed by Miss Youkum's gun with as many shots.

When her rifle failed her she ran for the gun dropped by her guide. With this she rounded up the rest of the hogs.

Filling the Carbonic Siphon at Home.

One of the new devices shown in the progressive household departments of the shops is a recharging outfit by means of which any householder can in two minutes convert ordinary water or other liquids into the carbonated state. A glass jar incased in wire—to make the operation quite safe in the hands of experimenters—a package of carbonizing capsules and a metal arrangement for connecting the capsules with the siphon are included in the outfit. One has only to fill the siphon up to an indicated point with water, milk, liquors or other liquids, include the capsules in its metal holder and turn a screw and the carbonation is completed.

Billiard Parlor for Women.
A billiard parlor for women has been opened in Kansas City by Mrs. Bertha May King, the champion woman billiard player. It has fifteen tables and female attendants. Speaking of her enterprise, Mrs. King said: "Women will be glad to learn the great indoor game if they are provided proper places. Few if any of the public rooms are exclusive enough for women. I propose to make my place one of refinement and exclusion, where women can learn and enjoy billiards and feel free to come and go. As an evidence of the benefit of the game as an exercise I can say that since I have played billiards I have rarely experienced a day's illness."

Tea Making Hints.
Use water which has just come to a boil, but which has not been boiled before or allowed to simmer on the stove for some time.

Warm the teapot by pouring in hot water a few minutes before the tea is required and allow it to remain in the pot until the tea is made.

Allow one teaspoonful of tea to each person, with one extra one. Four boiling water and allow to stand for three to five minutes.

Fill the teapot or the tea will cool rapidly.

Inaugural Ball.
It is probable that for the first time in history the inaugural ball this year will be held in the rotunda of the United States Capitol underneath the dome, which is surrounded by the Goddess of Liberty. The pension bureau, where the inaugural balls are usually held, is not available any longer because of the valuable documents and papers stored there, which would be jeopardized if the should break out.

Canary That Loves
Music of the Flute.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

Many young folks have canary birds as pets and have taught them amusing and cute little tricks. Canaries when gently handled are very amenable to discipline and learn to do in a way some very interesting feats. But a really wonderful little bird is that possessed by Master Cassin, an English boy who plays the flute. When its master ter plays the bird will fly to him and perch on his fingers, hopping from one to another as the performer manipulates the various keys, all the while accompanying the music with his own sweet little song. Frequently Miss Nancy Cassin plays an accompaniment to her brother's flute on the piano, and then the canary seems filled with ecstasy and warbles its sweetest notes. Truly this is a remarkable musical trio—the two children and the feathered performer.

Trick Paper.
Boys who are fond of performing tricks in the parlor when company is being entertained will find the piece of fireproof paper quite a mystery making thing. Take a bit of paper—say a sheet of ordinary note paper—and dip it in a strong solution of alum water. Let it dry and repeat process, again drying it. After it has been dipped and dried three or four times press it quickly and gently with a warm iron and place back in the box of stationery. When you decide to show the trick remove the sheet of paper from the box casually, as though it is the same as the other paper, and hold it over a lighted candle. It will not burn. The trick must be performed within a few minutes after the last application of alum water. It can be prepared after the company has arrived, the boy doing so in the kitchen secretly and some member of the family slipping it into the box of stationery for him as he talks to the company about tricks, explaining what he is about to do, etc.

Don'ts in Handling Books.
Don't leave a book lying open face downward. It might split the back.
Don't handle any book before you are sure your hands are clean.
Don't lean upon a book. It makes you look lazy and, besides, the binding won't stand it.
Don't turn down the corners of the leaves to mark your place. Make a bookmark for this purpose.
Don't hold a book near the fire. The binding might not be able to stand the heat.
Don't use a textbook without putting extra covers on it.
Don't increase your library at the expense of anybody else's. Of course we don't mean to say that you mean to keep any book that does not belong to you. You simply "forget." But don't let your memory clog-up in this matter.

Cruise of the Twenty-six.
Said A to B, "Let's go to C."
But B said, "Bail the river D."
"I cried with E," F, "so please take me to about the haws and G's."
All dropped their H's in surprise.
And got salt water in their I's.
To hear a lot of screaming J's.
Cull all the hard G's with the K's.
They gave an inch, but took an L.
And though it seems too sad to tell,
They stole away the printer's M.
Brave O went circling after them
And found the cockney with the N's.
Devouring P's. He took his Q.
And trilled his R's and rolled them, too.
He kissed the S's, drank his T.
Beneath a U, stood V. D.
And roared, "I'll quickly W.
As I expect 'in Ye to do!'
"Q," cried the crew, "let us B!
We'll end this cruise at Zuydam Z!"

AT THE THEATRES.

THE SOISSON.

"SEVEN HOURS IN NEW YORK." The New York theatrical producing firm of Wee & Lambert have evidently struck something good in their new musical comedy called "Seven Hours in New York." From the first performance, success has perched in the banner of this venture. Business has been surprisingly good, and the audience, managers and newspapers have voiced their approval of the offering in no uncertain way. There is a steady stream of requests for return dates, and managers voluntarily write or wire ahead of the company, sincere endorsement of the performance. In these days of over-production, the success of "Seven Hours in New York" is most gratifying. There isn't the slightest "off color" act or suggestion in the entire performance, which is in itself a passport to favor. The songs, of which there are eighteen, are all new and fit into the action of the play, which is the English manner, and another commendable feature of the performance. With the big original company and chorus, "Seven Hours in New York" will be seen at the Soisson Theatre, Thursday, January 23.

END LIVER TROUBLE WITHOUT CALOMEL

Untrustworthy Drug, Thought to Loosen the Teeth, Now Made Absolutely Unnecessary.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are the mild, but most effective laxative known, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. Dr. Edwards has been calomel's uncompromising foe. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets, a rare combination of vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil. These pleasant, harmless little tablets do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or cathartics. They take hold of the trouble and quietly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel at all, but to let Olive Tablets take their place.

Most headaches, "dizziness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" the clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits.

At 10c and 25c a box. "Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own."

A YEAR IN A COAL MINE

CHAPTER I. The New Man.

TEN days after my graduation from Harvard I took my place as an unskilled workman in one of the largest of the great coal mines that lie in the middle west. It was with no thought of writing my experiences that I chose my occupation, but with the intention of learning by actual work the operating end of the great industry in the hope that such practical knowledge as I should acquire would fit me to follow the business successfully.

The mine "workings" were entirely different from the latest inventions in coal-mining machinery were everywhere employed and every precaution for the safety of the men was followed beyond the letter of the law.

It was half past 6 on a July morning when the day shift began streaming out of the washhouse—some 100 men, white, black and of perhaps twenty-eight nationalities—dressed in their tattered black and greasy mine clothes. The long stream wound out of the washhouse door, past the power house where the two big generators that feed the arteries of the great mine all day long with its motive power were screaming in a high, shrill rhythm of sound, past the tall skeleton structure of the tangle tower from which the light morning breeze blew black clouds of coal dust as it eddied around the skeleton of structural iron work to a small house at the mine mouth, where the broken line formed a column and the men one by one passed through a gate by a small window and gave their arms to a red faced man who checked down in a great book the men who were entering the mine.

From the window we passed along to a little inclosure directly above the mouth of the main holding shaft. There above it the black tower of the mine pointed up into the hot blue morning sky and the dull, dry heat of the flat Illinois country seemed to sink down around it. But from the square, black, mouth of the shaft a strong, steady blast of cool air struck the faces of the men who stood at the head of the little column waiting for the next shift. On the one side of the shaft mouth long lines of empty railroad cars stretched out beyond into the flat country, each waiting its turn to be filled some time during the day with coal that would come pouring down over the great screens in the tipple and on the other side of the shaft mouth, under the warm roof of the building where the checker wrote down the numbers of the day shift, sat the holding engine.

Inside him was the great drum on which the long steel cables that lifted and lowered the hoisting cage were rapidly unwinding and in his hand he held a lever by which he controlled the ascent or descent of the "cage." The first cage had been lowered and as I watched him the dial before him I saw his hand follow his eye, and the white arrow passed the 400 foot level the hand drew back a notch, and the long, like wire began to unwind more slowly. Three hundred and fifty feet—and another notch—and as the arrow reached near the 400 foot mark his foot came down hard on the brake and a minute later a bell at his elbow sounded the signal of the safe arrival of the hoist. A minute, and another signal, and then, releasing his other lever toward him, the drum reversed, began to rewind and as the arrow flew backward I realized that the cage was nearing the top. It was a great steel box divided into four superimposed compartments, each holding two men, and I stood with nine others crowded on the first or lowest deck. As the last man pushed into his place and we stood shoulder to shoulder the holding engine slowly slipped his lever as if toward him and he slowly the cage sank. Then in an instant the white blue of the sky was gone except for a thin crack below the deck above us through which a sheet of white light shined in and hazy beams lay in the dusty air of our compartment. The high voices of the generators in the power house, the clanking puff of the switch engine in the yards and the noise of men and work which I had not noticed before I now suddenly missed in the absence of sound. There was a shuffling of feet on the deck above, not seen, we snub, and this time all was darkness while we waited for the third deck to fill. Once more and again for the fourth. Then as the cage started and the roar of the shoes on the guide rails struck my ears I looked at the men about me. They were talking in a whisper of foreign words, and in the greenish yellow light of their pit lamps, which hung like miniature comets in the beams of their caps, the strong hard lines of their faces deepened. The working day was begun.

As the cage shot down the wall of the shaft seemed to slip up, and from its wet, slimy surface an occasional splutter of mud shot in on the faces of the miners. Strong smells of kerosene, sweat and of burning oil filled the compartment, and the air which sucked up through the cracks beneath our feet as though under the force of a piston, fanned and pulled the yellow flames in the men's caps into smoking streaks. When I felt the speed of the hoist diminish, a pressure came in my ears and I swallowed hard, and a second later a soft but abrupt pause in our descent brought me down on my heels. The black wall of the shaft before me suddenly gave way and we came to a stop on the bottom of the mine.

It was cool and after the heat of a July morning the damp freshness of the air chilled me. With dinner pails banging against our knees we pushed out of the hoist, and as the men crowded past me I stood with my back against a great timber and looked around me. Behind, the hoist had already sunk into the "sump," or pit, at the bottom of the shaft, in order that the men on the second compartment might pass out into the mine and a second later they swarmed by me and still I stood half dazed by the roar of unknown sounds, my eyes blanketed by the absence of light, and my whole mind smothered and crushed. I was standing just off the main entry or tunnel of the mine, which began on my left hand out of blackness and passed again, on my right into a seeping wall of darkness. The low, black roof close by beamed with great timbers, was held by long lines of great white-washed tree trunks. A few electric lights glowed dimly through their dust coated globes, and the yellow flames from the men's pit lamps, which had faded so bright in the compartment of the hoist, now glared, as if from a red hot iron, in the gloom of the main entry.

Out of the blackness on the left two tracks passed over a great pit and stretched on into the blackness on the right as though into the wall of the entry, and I walked until it should pass. With a grind of brakes it suddenly loomed out of the blackness and into the dull haze of light at the shaft bottom. With a roar it passed by. The locomotive, a great iron box, was built like a battering ram, the headlight set in its armor plated bow and behind, on two wheels, as in a racing automobile, sat the motorman and the "trip rider" or helper, the motor man with one hand on the great iron brake wheel, the other on his controller and the trip rider swinging on his low seat, half on the motor and half over the coupling of the rocking car behind, clinging to the pole of the trolley. Their faces were black with the coal dust—black as the motor and their clothing—and from their pit lamps the flames bent back in the wind and streamed out straight along their cap tops. Low above the head of the trip rider the wheel on the trolley streaked out sudden bursts of greenish white sparks along the wire, and as the train passed by the roar of the locomotive gave place to the clattering of the couplings of the long string of stock cars, each heaped high with its black load of coal. Some one seized me by the elbow.

"What's yer number?" he asked.

"London? New man?"

"I nodded.

"Come along with me."

He was a tall thin man who walked with his head thrown forward and his chin against his chest as though in constant fear of striking the low beams overhead. I followed him stumbling over the broken coal over the broken coal beside the track. The train had come to a stop over the pit between the rails, and men with iron bars were beating loose the frogs and releasing the hopper bottoms of the cars. Heavy clouds of coal dust poured up from the cars as the coal roared down into the bins, and the clanking of metal, the creak of falling coal and the unintelligible shouting of the foreigners filled the entry with a dull tumult of sounds. Dealing the low trolley were which joined the next tunnel or completed the required length of that single entry.

But today these conditions are in most instances changed. The work began with the "machine men" who operate the "chain machines." In order that the blin may dislodge by gravity an even block of coal the dimensions of the cross section of the tunnel, these men cut with their machines a "sump cut," or, in other words, carve out an opening level with the floor about six inches high and six feet deep at the end of the tunnel. The machines which are propelled by electricity, consist of a motor and a large oblong disk about which travels an endless chain containing sharp steel "bits" or picks. The machine is braced, the current turned on and the disk advanced against the coal, automatically advancing as the bits grind out the coal. As soon as the machine has entered to the full six feet the disk is withdrawn and the cut continued until it extends across the entire face.

In the evening the drillers, with their powerful air drills bore a series of five or six foot "shot holes," four along the roof and two on each side for the "bit shots." Then a third crew of men, the shot men, fill the deep drill hole with long cartridges of coarse black powder and blast down the coal, which falls broken and crumbled into the cart prepared by the machine men. In the morning when the ever moving, current of air, forced into the mine by the fan at the mouth of the air shaft has cleared away the dust and smoke, the loaders enter the mine and all day long load into the ever ready cars the coal that has been blasted down until the "place" is cleaned up and their work is done. Then they move on to another place and so the work goes on in a perfect system of rotation.

My companion and I told me as we walked from the mine bottom that his name was Billy Wild. "Call me Billy," he said, and as we walked down the track to the main entry he turned and called over his shoulder. "You're in Room 27 third west south. That's where you are if you want to know." The light in my lamp was burning low, and I sat down on a pile of coal beside the track, lifted it off the rock

A MEETING WITH TURNER.

The Artist Simply Enraged the Man Who Longed to See Him.

A printshop in London kept by a man who thoroughly understood and appreciated the wares in which he dealt once displayed in its window a fine but much stained and damaged engraving—one of a set from Turner's "Rain, Steam, and Great Bridges." Turner chanced to pass and notice it and promptly bounced into the shop and began to abuse the dealer. "It's a confounded shame to treat an engraving like that!" he blustered. "What can you be thinking about to go and destroy a good thing? For it is a good thing, mind you!"

"If destroy it!" responded the dealer. "What do you mean by saying I destroyed it? And who the mischief are you, I should like to know? You don't look as if you could understand a good print when you see one. I destroy it! Bless my heart, I bought it just as it is, and I would rather keep it till doomsday than sell it to you! And why you should put yourself out about it I can't think!"

"Why, I did it!" said Turner. "Did what? Did you spoil it? If you did you deserve—"

"No, no, my name's Turner, and I did the drawing and engraved the plate from it!"

"Bless my heart!" ejaculated the print seller in a changing tone. "Is it possible you are the great Turner?" Then his temper rose again. "Well, sir," he added, "I have long desired to see you, and now that I have seen you I hope I shall never see you again, for a more disagreeable person I have seldom met."

There are water parrots as well as land parrots. The water parrot comes from the tropics, are brilliantly colored and have been something like those of the parrot, for use in breaking off the coral shell in order to get at the living polyp. Not all of them, however, live on animal food some species being herbivorous. One species is found in the Mediterranean sea where it has been known for thousands of years. The Greeks and Romans regarded it for a time as the first of fishes, and Pliny tells us how it was introduced into the Italian sea in the course of the reign of Claudius. It was known as the "carassius" by the ancients who told some wonderful stories about its lore its wisdom and its immortality. Some having a length of sixteen inches have been captured alive.

Doncaster Races.

Doncaster is one of the four places—the other three being Chester, Epsom and Lincoln—that claim to be the cradle of the British turf. In May, 1600 the minutes of the corporation record that Hugh Wyrill built caused a steeple or post, to be set on Doncaster more at the west end of the horse race, which was ordered to be "cut down." A few years later for the prevalence of steeple quicquell's murders and bloodshed it was agreed "that the race on Doncaster More be discontinued. Eventually the corporation with the true Yorkshire combined love of truth and sport, took the horse racing under its patriarchal care and turned the meeting into a source of profit—London Standard.

Attacks on Tea.

Cobbett is not alone among authors in his distaste for tea. Arthur Young soundly ranted the agricultural laborers of his time for their indulgence in this luxury. "An object, seemingly, of little account," he writes, "but in reality of infinite importance is the custom of drinking tea, almost as much as women laborers today, their time to come and go to the tea table—my farmers servants even demanding tea for their breakfast with the master! Which has actually been the case in East Kent. If the men come to lose as much of their time at tea as the women and injure their health by so bad a beverage the poor in general will find themselves far more distressed than ever."—London Chronicle.

Women's National Democratic League Elects New Officers.

OFFICERS OF THE WOMEN'S NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—There was considerable politics in the meeting of the Women's National Democratic League in this city. Mrs. J. S. Crosby of New York, the oldest president, failed of re-election, being succeeded by Mrs. Stephen D. Ayres, the wife of a New York congressman. Mrs. H. T. Scott, in nominating Mrs.

Ayres, said that President Elect Wilson had endorsed the wife of the New York congressman for the post. Mrs. Crosby presented the statement and declared that Mr. Wilson would not interfere in the matter. The officers shown in this picture from left to right are: Mrs. Crosby, Mrs. J. Charles Linticum, wife of Repres-

AT THE LIBRARY

December Report Shows Big Increase in Circulation; Some Book.

In spite of the holiday times the December circulation at the Connellsville Free Library was nearly four thousand eight hundred, an increase of eleven hundred over last year, which goes to prove that all that is needed to circulate books is to have books to circulate.

Two hundred and forty new books were added during the month, sixty-five of these being new titles suitable for the lower grade, presented by Superintendent S. P. Asie. This addition will help the children's work very much.

Speaking of the library and its work, Miss Elizabeth Clark, librarian, says in her report:

If you do not visit our periodical room and browse among its magazines and papers, there is no better time than the beginning of the year to form the habit and discover what a wealth of knowledge is at your disposal for information and pleasure, you are passing by.

The newspaper reader will find the following daily papers: Pittsburgh Gazette-Times, New York Times, Philadelphia Record, Chicago Tribune, Christian Science Monitor. If you like your current events more condensed in weekly form, we have Current Opinion, The Blue Harp, Weekly Independent, Literary Digest, Nation, Outlook, Review of Reviews, World's Work. Of the general monthly magazines you will find The American Magazine, Atlantic Monthly, Century, Everybody's, Harper's, McClure's and Scribner's, and for the more serious-minded the Chautauquan, Contemporary, Review, Living Age, North American Review, Nineteenth Century.

All women will find much of interest in the following: The Tolliver, Harper's Bazar, Ladies Home Journal, Modern Eccentric, devoted to fashion, the American Dressmaker. Consider how you spend your money, and avoid wasting it. Some danger threatens you, and even a small surplus will be of great value to you.

Those born today will be generous and talented, but untimely, and their training should emphasize the importance of keeping prompt and of not giving up a task without making serious efforts to accomplish it.

Magazines for you in addition to what you will find in Country Life in America and American Homes and Gardens. Whether you want to read about places you have visited or would like to visit, try the Travel Magazine and the National Geographic Magazine, and you will find them entertaining and useful.

In addition to these, the lover of outdoor life will find here American Boy, Girl, and Nature. HOT SHOT FROM C. C. SHEETZ

His Son Had Pneumonia Among Strangers.

Put on Train for Elkton and Bear's Emulsion Did the Rest.

John D. Bear, Dear Sir:—Three weeks ago I got a message from Covington, Va., that my son was very ill with pneumonia. I took the next train to Covington and brought him home, as he was among strangers in Covington. He could not talk above a whisper and a severe cough and very weak lungs. I secured him on a bottle of Bear's Emulsion as I heard so much talk about it and the good it had done. And the reason I am writing this is to tell my friends that have not tried it, that it is something wonderful in the way of effecting a cure. My son had only taken it for a couple of days when I could see the greatest improvement in him. His cough left him, his lungs got stronger and he began to improve right away. If there is anyone that would like to write me about this remedy, I will be glad to answer any question I can on the subject.

Yours very truly,
C. C. Sheetz,
Stokesville, Va.

Bear's Emulsion continues to give good satisfaction to all those that use it. But should your bottle be an exception we will gladly refund your money. For sale by A. A. Glavin and Graham & Company, Connellsville; Harry McGibbons, Dunbar, Landing; Drugist, Scotland.—Advertisement—

There's Something Going On Here---

A Whole-Souled Clean-Up of Every Stock in the Store That Provides the Things for Now--- and Later---at Splendid Savings

GOOD, HEALTHY TREES

Become sound and bear record crops (if they're fruit trees) when proper care and unsighted attention is given them.

At certain times superfluous shoots, overgrown branches and sharpening 'tops' must be sheared off.

So it is with good stores. The pruning process is for the better growth—store of life.

Our necessity to prune stock in January favors customers who find things cut off that are exactly what they want.

This has been going on since last Wednesday. At this season of the year we call it January Clearance Sale. We have to present these 'goings on' in sections—there head lines of the news—a little today, tomorrow and so on.

To advertise everything that has the people interested would take too much space in this newspaper.

Now, if something you'd like particularly to see printed doesn't appear here, slip into your coat and take a trip to the store—we might have it anyway.

—Or call up your favorite salesperson on the telephone.
